VOLUME SIX

AUG 1990

LOG ENTRY

CAPTAIN'S LOG STARDATE 43811.0
WE HAVE RECEIVED ORDERS FROM STARFLEET COMMAND TO PROCEED TO THE KLINGON HOME WORLD AND PICK UP COMMANDER K'LAAS, SOLE SURVIVOR OF THE KLINGON VESSEL "BORTAS", DESTROYED BY THE ROMULANS TWO YEARS AGO IN A BORDER DISPUTE. OUR ORDERS ARE TO DELIVER COMMANDER K'LAAS TO THE KELLY CLASS DREADNAUGHT "TRISHA LYNN", WHERE HE WILL SERVE AS A FIRST OFFICER. WE WILL RENDEZVOUS WITH THE "TRISHA LYNN" AT COORDINATES SEVEN SIX THREE MARK TWO ONE.

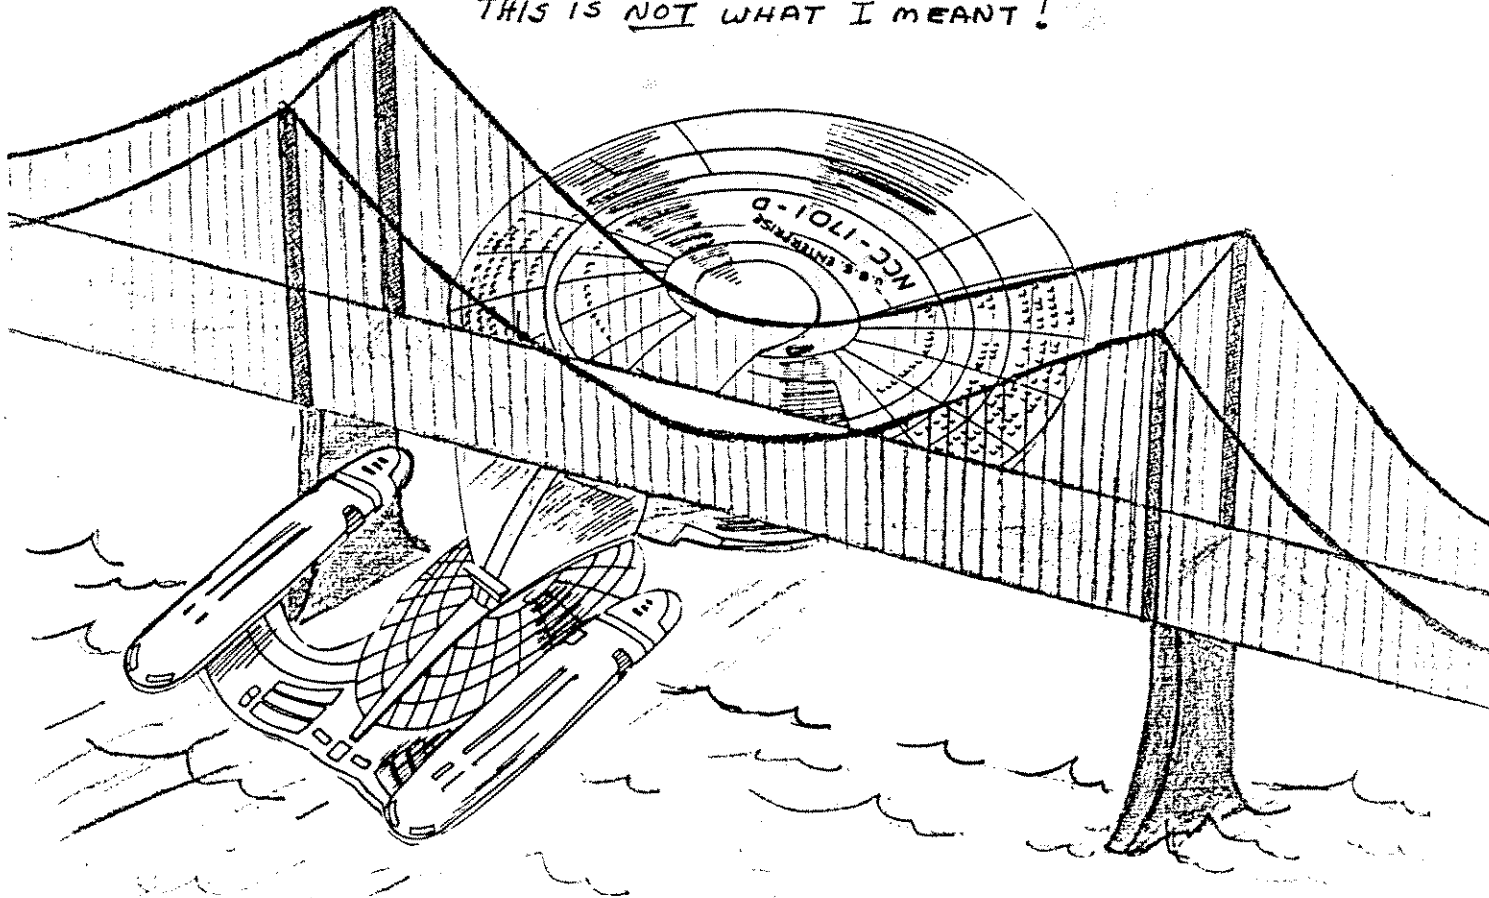

CAPTAIN'S LOG SUPPLEMENTAL

WE ARRIVED AT THE RENDEZVOUS POINT TWO POINT FIVE HOURS AGO. WE WERE SURPRISED THREE D'DARIDEX CLASS ROMULAN CRUISERS WHO DECLOAKED AND FIRED AT US. WE SUSTAINED MODERATE DAMAGE TO THE SECONDARY HULL WITH BREACHES ON DECKS 25, 26, & 27. SEVERAL SYSTEMS FAILED, INCLUDING PHASER TRACKING AND WARP DRIVE. OUTNUMBERED AND OUTGUNNED, I HAILED THE ROMULAN COMMANDER DEMANDING AN EXPLANATION FOR THEIR ATTACK. I WAS ORDERED TO SURRENDER BY MY ROMULAN COUNTERPART, WHO CLAIMED THAT THE "KELLY" HAD DESTROYED FOUR CITIES ON THE ROMULAN HOMEWORLD. I INFORMED HIM THAT THE "KELLY" HAD BEEN NOWHERE NEAR ROMULUS, BUT HE MERELY REPEATED HIS ORDER TO SURRENDER. THE ROMULAN VESSELS WERE POWERING UP THEIR DISRUPTORS FOR ANOTHER ASSAULT, WHEN SENSORS REPORTED A SHIP APPROACHING AT HIGH WARP WITH SHIELDS RAISED AND WEAPONS TO BEAR. IT WAS THE "TRISHA LYNN". AT SIGHT OF ANOTHER FEDERATION STARSHIP, THE ROMULANS BROKE OFF THEIR ATTACK AND FLED.

CAPTAIN'S LOG, STARDATE 43823.5.

WE HAVE TRANSFERRED COMMANDER K'LAAS TO THE "TRISHA LYNN". MEANWHILE WE ARE EFFECTING REPAIRS ON OUR DAMAGED-VESSEL. WE REMAIN ON ALERT STATUS. I HAVE THE FEELING THAT THIS WONT BE THE LAST WE SEE OF THE ROMULANS.

ENSIGN CRUSHER, WHEN I SAID "COME IN CLOSE,"
THIS IS NOT WHAT I MEANT!

DARK ENCOUNTER

THE DARKNESS WAS COMPLETE. NOT A SLIVER OF LIGHT PENETRATED HIS CHOSEN BATTLEGROUNDS. MOVING SLOWLY AND NOISELESSLY TO THE LEFT, LIEUTENANT WOLF SOUGHT HIS PREY. SENSES HEIGHTENED, STRAINING TO CATCH AN INSIGHT TO THE WHEREABOUTS OF THE ENEMY, WOLF CALLED UP EVERY BIT OF CUNNING AND KNOWLEDGE AT HIS COMMAND.

NOTHING! IT WAS AS IF HE WERE ALONE, SEQUESTERED IN SOME GIGANTIC WOMB, WITH ONLY HIS THOUGHTS AND HIS FEARS FOR COMPANY. NO, SOMEWHERE OUT THERE THE ENEMY AWAITED HIM, SEEKING HIS DESTRUCTION. ANOTHER FEW METERS AND STILL NOTHING, ONLY A SENSE OF FORBODING, A TINGLING OF HIS SPINE THAT TOLD HIM THEY WERE NEAR. VERY NEAR. HE WONDERED IF HE SHOULD WAIT THEM OUT OR TRY TO TAKE THEM BY SURPRISE. HE WAS NOT A PATIENT MAN, PREFERING TO ALWAYS TAKE THE OFFENSIVE. BUT HE REALIZED THAT IN A SITUATION LIKE THIS THE FIRST TO MOVE WAS OFTEN THE FIRST TO DIE. "WHAT WOULD TASHA DO?" HE ASKED HIMSELF, NOT FOR THE FIRST TIME. SINCE HER DEATH A FEW MONTHS AGO, HE'D HAD OCCASION TO WONDER ABOUT THEIR TENUOUS RELATIONSHIP. SHE'D BEEN RIGHT. THEY WERE VERY MUCH ALIKE. WARRIORS BOTH. STRANGE THAT A HUMAN FEMALE COULD ELICIT SUCH RESPECT FROM HIM, BUT SHE WAS A TRUE PROFESSIONAL, WITH AN INSTINCT FOR SURVIVAL THAT MIRRORED HIS OWN. ALTHOUGH THEY HADN'T BEEN CLOSE PERSONAL FRIENDS--HE'D NEVER HAD SOMEONE HE COULD CALL FRIEND--SHE WAS A VALUED COLLEAGUE AND HE WOULD SORELY MISS HER. HE BELIEVED THAT HE'D UNDERSTOOD HER AS NO ONE ELSE HAD EVER DONE. REMEMBERING HER LOVE OF LIFE AND DEDICATION TO DUTY

FEEL A TEAR RUN DOWN HIS FURROWED FACE. IN THE SULLEN DARKNESS HE SILENTLY WEPT FOR HIS FALLEN COMRADE.

INSTINCT RATHER THAN SENSE TOLD HIM TO MOVE. A RUSHING OF AIR AND A HEAVY "CHUNK" RELAYED TO HIM THAT HIS INSTINCTS WERE CORRECT. "HOW COULD THEY CATCH ME OFF GUARD LIKE THAT?" HE ASKED THE BLACK VEIL BEFORE HIM. "HAS LIVING WITH HUMANS MADE ME LOSE MY EDGE?" SOUNDLESSLY, HE CRAWLED OVER THE ROUGH TERRAIN, MOVING QUICKLY AWAY FROM HIS ATTACKERS. FIVE OR SIX OF THEM, HE FIGURED. "AND THEY DAMNED NEAR GOT ME!" HE WAS BEGINNING TO THINK IT WASN'T SUCH A GOOD IDEA TO BYPASS THE MORTALITY FAILSAFE FOR THIS PROGRAM. ANOTHER MISTAKE LIKE THAT, AND I COULD BE DEAD. HE WISHED PERHAPS HE'D BROUGHT COMMANDER RIKER WITH HIM ON THIS EXPEDITION. THE COMMANDER HAD PROVEN MORE THAN ONCE THAT HE COULD HANDLE MOST ANYTHING THAT CAME HIS WAY. LIKE THE LAST TIME THEY WERE ON THE HOLODECK TOGETHER. THEY HAD BEEN CAUGHT OFF GUARD BY A COUPLE OF THE NASTIEST LOOKING ALIENS YOU'D EVER RUN UP AGAINST. RIKER DESPATCHED HIS FOE AND TURNED TO HELP WORF. WITH THE BLOODTHIRST UPON HIM, WORF CAME CLOSE TO ATTACKING RIKER, BUT AT THE SOUND OF HIS COMMANDER'S ORDERS, WAS ABLE TO GET HIMSELF UNDER CONTROL. THEN, WHILE TEMPORARILY SERVING ABOARD THE KLINGON SHIP "PAGH", RIKER HELD HIS OWN AGAINST A WHOLE SHIPLOAD OF WARRIORS AND CAME OUT WITH A WHOLE SKIN. IF THERE WAS ANYONE THAT WORF COULD TRUST IN BATTLE, IT WAS COMMANDER RIKER. THE COMMANDER MIGHT BE HUMAN, BORN ON EARTH, BUT IN HIS HEART HE WAS A KLINGON.

TO HIS RIGHT, WORF HEARD THE SOUNDS OF HIS ENEMY'S PURSUIT. QUICKENING HIS PACE, HE FOUGHT TO MOVE QUIETLY OVER THE INCREASINGLY ROUGH TERRAIN BENEATH HIS FEET. HUGE BOULDERS AND TREE BRANCHES WERE STREWN HAPHAZARDLY IN HIS PATH. IN THE TOTAL DARKNESS IT BECAME NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE TO MAKE HIS WAY WITHOUT FALLING. HIS BREATH CAME HARD AND FAST AS HE TRAVERSED THE OBSTACLE COURSE BEFORE HIM. HE STOPPED TO CATCH HIS BREATH AND LISTEN FOR SOUNDS OF PURSUIT. THEY WERE GETTING CLOSER. HE DIDN'T KNOW HOW MUCH LONGER HE COULD ELUDE THEM.

AS HE STOOD LISTENING, THE BEGINNINGS OF AN IDEA DAWNED ON HIM. WHEN THE ENEMY CAUGHT UP TO HIM, HE WOULD BE READY. WORKING IN AN ALMOST FRENZIED FASHION, THE HUGE KLINGON BEGAN GATHERING ROCKS AND BRANCHES WHICH HE FASHIONED INTO A CRUDE CORRAL IN WHICH TO TRAP HIS OPPONENTS. SATISFIED WITH HIS WORK, HE HOISTED HIMSELF TO A LOW LYING LIMB AND SETTLED DOWN TO WAIT, THE GRIM KNOWLEDGE THAT THE BATTLE WOULD SOON BE JOINED FILLING HIS HEART.

HIS THOUGHTS STRAYED TO THE OTHERS OF HIS COMRADES, THE CREW OF THE STARSHIP "ENTERPRISE". EACH BROUGHT HIS OR HER OWN UNIQUE ABILITIES AND GIFTS TO THEIR PLACE ABOARD SHIP. CAPTAIN PICARD, FROM WHOM HE HAD LEARNED MUCH ABOUT PATIENCE AND UNDERSTANDING. GEORDI LaFORGE, WHO TAUGHT HIM IT WAS ALRIGHT TO HAVE A SENSE OF HUMOR. WESLEY CRUSHER, THE BOY, WHO HAD SO MUCH KNOWLEDGE AND YET BELIEVED THAT NOTHING WAS IMPOSSIBLE. AND DATA, A MACHINE WHO WOULD TRADE ALL THAT HE WAS TO BE HUMAN. DEANNA TROI, THE BETAZED COUNSELOR, WITH HER EMPATHIC ABILITIES. SHE MADE HIM FEEL UNEASY. HE DID'T LIKE

THE IDEA OF SOMEONE ELSE SENSING HIS FEELINGS, SO HE TRIED TO KEEP THEM TO HIMSELF, SUSPICIOUS THAT HE WAS NOT ENTIRELY SUCCESSFUL. HE DIDN'T KNOW THAT MUCH ABOUT THE NEW DOCTOR BUT DOCTORS IN GENERAL MADE HIM NERVOUS. TOGETHER, THE CREW MADE AFORMIDABLE TEAM. IF WORF HAD CLAIM TO ANY KIND OF FAMILY, THIS CREW WAS IT. IF HE WAS BECOMING A LITTLE MORE HUMAN BY ASSOCIATING WITH THEM, HE WOULD LEARN TO DEAL WITH IT. IF HE HAD LOST HIS EDGE, HE WOULD FIND OTHER WAYS TO MAKE IT UP. HE HAD TO ADMIT THAT HE LIKED SERVING ABOARD THE "ENTERPRISE". HE LIKED SERVING WITH THESE HUMAN CREATURES, AS FRAIL AND AS IRRATIONAL AS THEY SOMETIMES WERE, THEY WERE HIS FAMILY.

DIRECTLY BELOW HIM A TWIG SNAPPED, AND HE KNEW IT WAS TIME TO SPRING HIS TRAP. RELEASING A PILE OF BOULDERS AND BRANCHES, THE RETREAT OF THE ENEMY WAS EFFECTIVELY CUT OFF. ROARING AND SNARLING, WORF FLUNG HIMSELF AT THE TARGET, STRIKING OUT AT HIS UNSEEN FOE WITH A STURDY BRANCH GRASPED IN HIS MASSIVE FIST. THE CONFUSED ENEMY FOUGHT BACK FEROCIOUSLY, BUT IN THE TOTAL DARKNESS THEY STARTED ATTACKING EACH OTHER, LESSENING WORF'S JOB. HE BROKE THE NECK OF ONE OF HIS ADVERSARIES AND GROUND HIS HEEL INTO THE HEAD OF ANOTHER, HEARING THE CRUNCH OF BONE GIVING WAY. BEATING THE GROUND WITH HIS BRANCH, WORF STOPPED ONLY WHEN ALL SOUNDS OF STRUGGLE AND SUFFERING CEASED. STANDING UNSTEADILY, WORF OBSERVED IT SEEMS I HAVEN'T LOST MY EDGE AFTER ALL.

"COMPUTER, EXIT."

THE HOLODECK DOOR OPENED, BLINDING LIGHT FROM THE CORRIDOR SPILLING INTO THE JUMBLED MESS IN THE HOLODECK. A HIDEOUS SCREAM BROUGHT WORF WHIRLING ON THE DOORSTEP, AND HE WAS FLATTENED BY ONE OF THE HUGE CREATURES HE'D BEEN BATTLING. SEARING PAIN GRASPED HIS CHEST AS THE BEAST SUNK ITS FANGS DEEP INTO WORF'S FLESH. BELLOWING A BATTLE CRY OF HIS OWN, THE KLINGON SECURITY CHIEF ASSAILED HIS FOE WITH ALL HIS MIGHT. THE BEAST CONTINUED ITS TENACIOUS HOLD ON ITS PREY, AND WORF COULD NOT PRY THOSE FANGS FROM HIS CHEST. HIS STRENGTH BEGINNING TO FADE, WORF LOWERED HIS HEAD AND CLAMPED HIS TEETH INTO THE NECK OF HIS DEADLY ADVERSARY. ITS FOUL TASTING BLOOD FILLED WORF'S MOUTH AS THE KLINGON TORE SAVAGELY AT HIS ENEMY'S NECK AND IRON FINGERS CUT INTO ITS NECK. OXYGEN RUNNING OUT AND EVER INCREASING PRESSURE MOUNTING ON ITS THROAT, THE BEAST'S GRASP ON WORF BEGAN LESSENING. SENSING THE WEAKNESS OF HIS ENEMY, WORF RIPPED HIS FOE'S HEAD FROM THE MANGLED NECK AND THREW IT TO THE GROUND. SPITTING FLUID FROM HIS MOUTH AND GASPING FOR AIR, WORF SURVEYED THE SCENE. HIS FEVERED EYES DARED ANY OF THE OTHER CREATURES TO ATTACK. SENSING ONLY DEATH, HE TURNED AND EXITED THE HOLODECK.

LIEUTENANT WORF ENTERED THE BRIDGE AT THE BEGINNING OF HIS DUTY SHIFT. HIS EYES ROAMED THE FAMILIAR SURROUNDINGS AS AN INCOMPREHENSIBLE FEELING CAME OVER HIM AS A CONFIRMATION THAT THIS WAS WHERE HE BELONGED. HE LOOKED AT THE OTHER CREW MEMBERS AT THEIR DUTY STATION. INWARDLY DARING COUNSELOR TROI TO READ HIS THOUGHTS NOW, HE GREETED RIKER IN THE COMMAND CHAIR. "COMMANDER, WOULD YOU CARE TO JOIN ME IN THE HOLODECK DURING YOUR NEXT FREE PERIOD?" RIKER HESITATED ONLY BRIEFLY.

"I'D BĒ HONĒRED, LIEUTENANT." BUT WOPF HAS SEEN A MOMENT OF APPREHENSION IN THE COMMANDER'S EYES. AND JUST MAYBE A LITTLE FEAR. YES, HE SAID TO HIMSELF. I'M FINALLY HOME. HE TURNED IMPLACABLY BACK TO HIS DUTY STATION, HIS EXPRESSION UNREADABLE TO THOSE AROUND HIM. BUT INSIDE, WOPF WAS SMILING.

THE END

BY RICHARD L. HENLINE

SHIP'S STATUS

It was starting night fall when the U.S.S. KELLY shuttlecraft touched down in the Big Cottonwood mountains at a campsite known as the Spruces. The opening of the doors brought forth the aroma of camp fires and pine trees.

We unloaded all our gear and proceeded to make camp. Ensign Branden Henline, with help from Elma, Travis, and assorted others not known to me started the camp fire. "No phasers were discharged". Captain Hollinger and Commander Henline were assembling their tent when I heard cries of "Chief Engineer come help us". It was tedious, but with my help it stood secure. I, on the other hand, took a more true to nature idea and didn't bring a tent. Truthfully I forgot the tent, Ensign Claytor brought a tarp which worked great.

As we were not equipped with food replicators, and having a total of sixteen people all hungry, we started preparing food. Some had foil dinners, and Ensign Claytor made "menudo" this was delicious but different. Then the meeting was called and Captain Hollinger stood before us tall and stern. First he told of the "Kubla Khan". The fun! The excitement! But to our dismay no Star Trek gaming - how disappointing! Second, he read a letter from Carlos J. Rivera the man who owns the shuttle "Galileo." He asked some questions which we hope to answer. And third, trivia would be in the Captains quarters. (o.k. it's a tent.) While Ensign Henline and I were in our trivia confrontation, with the Captain as the question giver and the Commander taking score, the rest of the group gathered around the campfire singing "row row row your boat" and roasting marshmallons.

As it got later in the night most went to sleep, but a hand full of us talked till four, by this time a cool breeze came in so we packed in our gab session and went to sleep, three of us by a blazing fire which we fed all night long.

Up by six, (it was too cold to sleep much longer) the Commander and I talked till eight at which time Yeoman Oliver arrived so I went to greet her. On my return, Captain Hollinger was making breakfast; eggs, french toast, bacon and hashbrowns. It was great! Then we started a water fight to work off the food we had just eaten, it was quit the fight as it became Captain and Commander against every one. We all got some good hits, but so did they. By this time it was noon and we were all beat. The Kelly shuttle had to leave so we packed up and lifted away to go home to our lady.

LT Mark Griffeth
(Chief Engineer)

Dear Dennis;

Thanks for stopping by and viewing the shuttlecraft "GALILEO". I hope the pictures we took came out o.k. I read your "Kelly Communique", and was very impressed with the contents. Who does your artwork? It is very good. Your articles are well written and informative. I was especially interested in your third season episode guide for Star Trek: The Next Generation. Who compiled it? These are air dates as apposed to production dates? I was wondering if you had a first and second season episode guide? If so, could I have a copy?

What did you think of the third season finale? I need some general feedback from the general Star-Trek fan population about the fate of the Shuttlecraft "Galileo". At your next club meeting, could you as a general consensus, get the opinions of all involved as to what they think ought to be done with this historical of all Star Trek props.

1. Should it be 100% restored with a scaled down interior?
2. Should it be donated to a museum? If so, which?
3. Should it be sold back to Paramount?
4. Should it be driven all over the country and displayed at shoping malls, super markets, etc.?

I need feedback. What do you guys think? I really enjoyed your presence, and wish you the best of luck in all of your endeavors. Waiting to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Carlos J. Rivera

Though my name is Deanna Marie Oliver, I go by "Marie". I was born in Sapulpa, Oklahoma, on November 25th; sometimes my birthday lands on Thanksgiving. I grew up in Tulsa, Oklahoma and moved to Utah in 1972. My mother is a widow and I have two brothers, Rob and Marty, and two sisters, Carrie and Sue. Everyone lives here in Utah, except for Susan, she lives in Seattle, Washington.

My favorite pastimes include going to movies and reading comic books (of course science fiction is "tops" on my list). The comics I treasure include: Star Trek, "old" Lois Lane, Superman, Supergirl, and Superboy comics. I have a zest for travel and do so whenever possible and would relish the opportunity to travel to different planets, seek out new adventures, and go where no woman has gone before (Ha, Ha)!

I have only been to two conventions: (1) I met Yeoman Rand and (2) I met Warf. I went to the auto show and met William Shatner awhile back. I think it would really be fascinating to meet "Spock".

Star Trek, The New Generation is a phenomenal show. Two of the characters I admire are: Tasha Yar and Deanna Troy. I particularly like it when there are strong women characters. Really miss Tasha Yar, I appreciated it when she appeared in one of the new shows this past season.

Plus, I couldn't believe it that a Star Trek character had my name (Deanna)! I savor the times when the characters talk about personal aspects of their lives and we learn more about them. I get absorbed in the adventures the characters go through and the opportunities they have to meet new species and I get mesmerized when they are exploring the unknown.

Looking forward to getting to knowing everyone. Glad to be on board!!

ATTENTION FANS OF ALIEN NATION

STAR GAZER

WIL WHEATON

Wesley "Wes" Crusher in "Star Trek: The Next Generation"

Fifteen-year-old Wil Wheaton is a big "Star Trek" fan. So when his agent called to tell him about auditioning for the new series, he said, "Sounds great." When he got the part of Wesley "Wes" Crusher, the brilliant son of Dr. Beverly Crusher, chief medical officer aboard the Enterprise, he was thrilled.

"Wesley is very smart. He's not your typical wise-cracking 15-year-old. He inherited the genius of his mother, and his father, who was a Starfleet commander," Wheaton says.

The young actor says the best thing about his character is that Wesley is not treated like a child. "At first I thought, OK, but I hope it isn't, kid gets in trouble, crew gets kid out of trouble. But it's not like that at all. Wesley is almost an equal with the rest of the crew. He knows the Enterprise inside and out, backwards and forwards. The ship's operations manual is like his Bible, and his big goal is to get on the bridge and control the ship," says Wheaton, who views the series as a continuation of the "Star Trek" saga and legend.

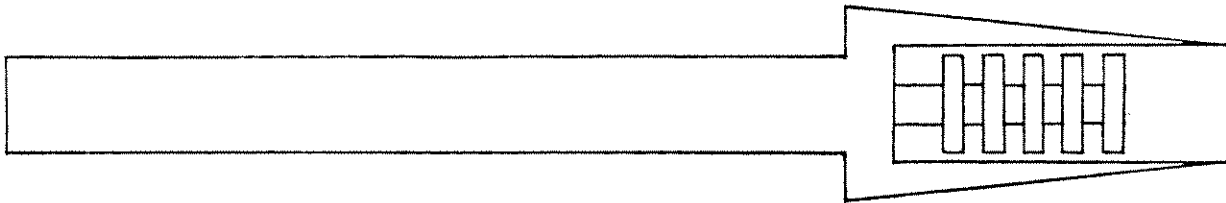

Wheaton began his career at age seven doing commercials and has racked up an impressive list of credits since then. He is probably best known for his role in the recent hit film "Stand By Me," which was shot on location in Oregon. "That film was great fun because it was four kids and Rob Reiner. It was not only fun, it was an incredible learning experience," he says.

His other features include "The Buddy System" and "The Secret of NIMH." Counted among Wheaton's television work are guest appearances on such series as "Family Ties," "St. Elsewhere" and "Highway to Heaven" and the television movies "Young Harry Houdini," "A Long Way Home" and "The Defiant Ones."

His goal for the future is simple. "I want to buy a beach house in Malibu and surf my life away. But you know, I'm 15 years old, and if you set your goals and dreams too far in the future, you've got to wait a long time," Wheaton says.
